- Expressions are a powerful tool for manipulating and executing R code.

- Environments record associations between names and values.

- Execution environments create a scope for variable names inside of functions.

Mark as completed